CRITERIA FOR EFFECTIVE LEADERSHIP

The essence of the role of leaders in organisations' is to lead effective and relevant change.

Leaders:
- set direction, and
- touch, move and inspire people to follow them

The essential skill of a leader is to influence people to achieve goals by creating an environment that is motivating, inspiring, energising and uniting.

Think of an effective leader you have worked with. What are the things he/she did (i.e. the behaviours exhibited) that had an impact on how you perceived him/her and how you responded to him/her? If you have not worked for an effective leader think of someone you admire. Now repeat the exercise for an ineffective leader. What patterns, if any do you see? Thinking about your own leadership style, what actions will you take to leverage strengths & minimise/ overcome weakness?
